

Nilorn Sweden

Based in Borås (headquarter)

Compliance Specialist Labeling

Nilorn Worldwide is one of the leading European branding companies, an international company established in 1977 focused on adding value to brands by using branding and design in the form of labels, packaging, and accessories. Customers principally represent the fashion and ready-to-wear industry. Nilorn offers complete creative and tailored concepts in branding, design, product development, and logistics solutions. At the head office in Sweden, we are approximately 45 employees.

As an international company, with business and customer in several countries, compliance is of major importance. We are therefore looking for a Compliance Specialist Labeling. In this role, you will be responsible for leading our Compliance-work, making sure that we work with compliance in a structured way to be able to be proactive towards our Customers. It is a new position so it is the perfect opportunity for somebody who is driven by the challenge of designing a new role and setting standards and routines.

Responsibilities

In your role as Compliance Specialist Labeling, you will:

- Monitor local and international regulations, legislations and standards in territories we and our clients work in
- Assist the Retail Information Service department with compiling the required information for care labelling
- Administer a database of compliance information, structuring and using it to provide applicable compliance information to different departments
- Manage information translations, format and placement requirements
- Provide assistance to cross functional groups such as product development, marketing, design, customer service, and procurement regarding compliance issues and initiatives
- Lead training of both internal and external partners

Required skills and experience

We are looking for somebody with:

- Preferably a background in regulatory compliance including knowledge of GINETEX, ISO and environment labelling, specifically as they apply to the labelling of apparel and packaging
- Bachelor's Degree or the equivalent in regulatory compliance, textile management, purchasing or related disciplines
- At least 3 years of relevant experience
- Excellent analytical problem solving and communication skills.
- Strong attention to details
- Curiosity and information seeking skills
- Ability to develop strong relationships with cross-functional team members and external partners
- Good communicator and excellent level of English, both written and spoken
- Highly self-motivated and organized; able to lead/contribute initiatives with authority and creativity
- Computer skills, especially Word, Excel and PowerPoint

Compliance Specialist Manager is reporting directly to the CFO of the Group

Does this sound like a position for you? Please send your application by mail to our CFO Maria Fogelström, maria.fogelstrom@nilorn.com no later than the 18th of October.
